You Know What You Don't See?

20-something Guy:

Look out in the street there.

You know what you don't see?

My car. Cuz I had to sell it to pay the lawyer I hired when I got busted for drunk driving.

Know what else you don't see? My girlfriend. Who decided that a guy with no car and no license and no money was no fun.

And hey - you know what else you don't see?

You don't see me leaving for work in the morning, cuz I missed so much time with court and everything that I got fired.

And all because - even though I was a little drunk - I didn't see any cops, so I drove home. Yeah, I didn't see them, but they sure saw me.

SFX: incoming text message

20-something Guy:

Hang on - I got a text. Oh, I see my friends are going out tonight. Now, would I rather see myself bumming a ride and some money .. or would I rather see myself at home ...alone .. again?

Tell you one thing ... I don't see myself ever drinking and driving again.

SFX: single music chord

ANNCR:

Cops .. are out there.

Cracking down on drunk driving, all across the state.

And they'll see you before you see them.

Driver sober, or get pulled over.
